Dear Sir/ Madam,

The Prevention of Damage by Pests Act 1949
Re: Rat Infestation

I refer to my visit on the 8 January 2021 following complaints of sightings of rat's present which were witnessed by myself around the car park of Therfield Heath and many rat holes indicating where they are nesting.

As the owner or occupier of land, you have a legal duty under the above legislation to take steps to keep land free from rats and mice.

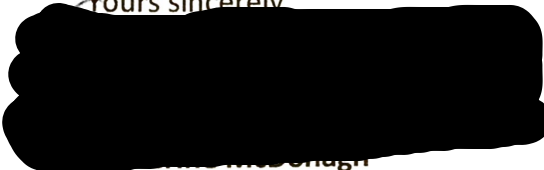

In order to deal with the infestation, you will need to engage the services of a professional pest control company who can advise of the best way to satisfactorily deal with the problem.

Can you make sure that you ask the company to provide you with a report after each visit and email me a copy of each report to [REDACTED]

I have attached photos which detail where the rats are present.

If you would like to discuss this, or for clarification please telephone or email me at [REDACTED]

Yours sincerely
